CAREER OBJECTIVE

I am an aspiring React Native Developer currently pursuing a Bachelor's degree in Computer Science from Capital University of Science and Technology. With a solid foundation in React Native and JavaScript, I have hands-on experience integrating mobile applications with Firebase. I also possess beginner-level skills in PHP and MySQL, and have experience with web technologies such as React and TailwindCSS. Additionally, I excel in competitive programming using C++, which has honed my problem-solving abilities. My strong passion for learning and adapting to new technologies, combined with my technical skills, position me well for a part-time job or internship in development. I am eager to contribute my expertise and innovative mindset to your projects while gaining valuable industry experience.
